

"All that money meant something to Scrooge. He made it by being tougher than the toughies, and smarter than the smarties. And he made it square!"
—Carl Barks.

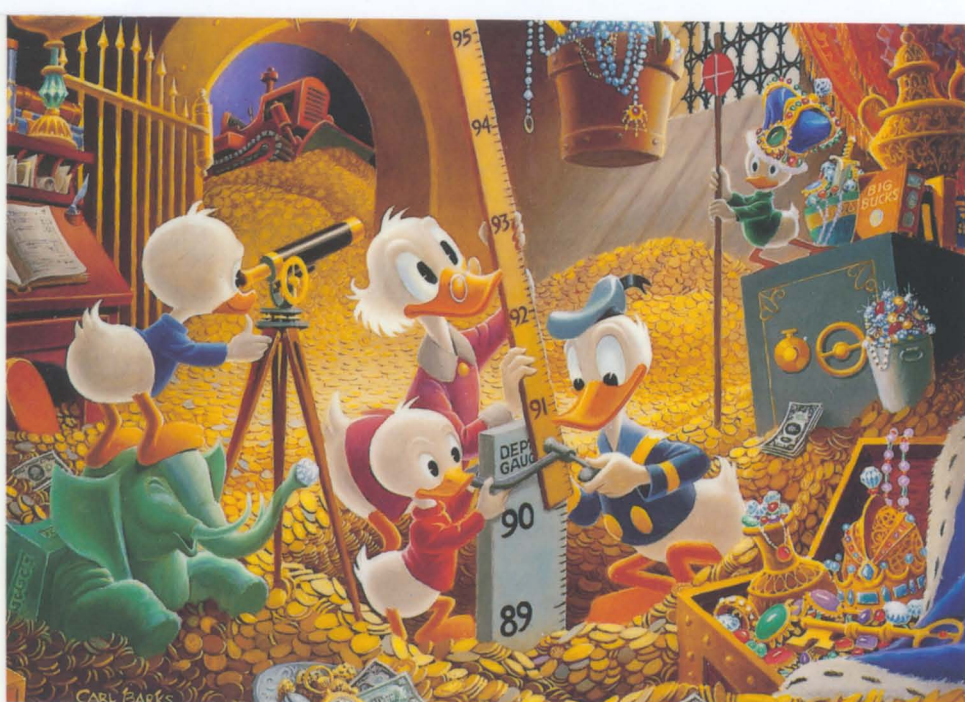

An Embarrassment of Riches. The signed, limited edition.

Carl Barks is the genius who wrote and drew the Uncle Scrooge and Donald Duck comic book stories for over 40 years. His stories are reprinted to this day in hundreds of countries. His following numbers hundreds of thousands of serious adult collectors.

Time (5/17/82) says: "Scrooge is the embodiment of home-grown pluck. He and his creator Carl Barks belong in the mainstream of American folklore." Film director and admirer George Lucas (Star Wars) says Barks' work is "priceless... one of the few things you can point to and say—like it or not—this is what America is."

Barks' masterpiece. Personally signed and numbered.

Over the past decade Barks has painted only 126 oils of the Disney ducks. These sold originally for $150 to $250. Today they sell for up to fifty thousand dollars each. The most valuable are those depicting Scrooge's legendary money bin. Barks' newest money bin—entitled "An Embarrassment of Riches"—is without question his finest ever. A limited edition of 500 fine art lithographs were struck for The Sharper Image (with our logo imprint). Each is hand-signed and numbered by Barks and comes with a registered certificate of authenticity. 395 prints were struck without our logo, bringing the total to 895. Then the original plate was permanently defaced and stored in the Disney Archives for historical purposes. There will be absolutely no future editions, signed or unsigned.

Image area is an impressive 20×16". A specially developed lithography process matches the luminous quality of his original with remarkable fidelity. Museum-quality 100 lb. cotton fiber stock holds color and resists yellowing for literally centuries. Mailed flat, and heavily protected. Custom framing (30×24" overall) is available in lustrous gold metal with matched cream and almandine double-matting. (Because prints are insured, frames do not include glass).

Stress control at your fingertips.

The palm-sized GSR 2 biofeedback monitor lets you listen to and control stress—by converting minute tension-related changes in your skin pore size into sound: the greater your stress, the higher the pitch. Rest two fingers on the sensing plates, then follow the simple relaxation steps on the cassette tape (or written instructions) to immediately lower the pitch. It's a soothing sensual experience that will put you in perhaps the deepest state of conscious rest and relaxation you've ever known. And once you master the inner maneuvers that control tension you'll be able to relax in almost any stressful situation. Or even improve performance (the U.S. Olympic Nordic Ski team and many professional athletes train with the GSR 2). The basic GSR 2 unit comes with 2 year battery in place, cassette tape and instructions. Year warranty.

Or, order the deluxe GSR/TEMP 2 system. Stress also reduces the blood flow to your hands, which can be monitored through the TEMP 2 Sensor Attachment. You can also plug in the Viewing Meter to see your stress level. Included are two remote sensors (lets you monitor stress with your hands free), a thermometer for absolute temperature, carrying case, plus the GSR 2. Currently in use at over 1000 medical and educational institutes worldwide. Now put the complete biofeedback lab in your own hand.

GSR2 (basic hand unit) #ATT189 $49 (2.50).
GSR/TEMP 2 (hand unit and all accessories) #ATT553 $99 (3.50).
